NATHANIEL L. WILLET DIES IN WARRENTON

Prominent Augustan Was
Brother of Hugh M. Willet, Widely Known Atlantan.

Nathaniel Louis Willet, 82, prominent resident of Augusta and a brother of Hugh M. Willet, widely known Atlantan, died Sunday at his summer home at Warrenton, Va. He had been in ill health for nearly a year, but suffered an attack Saturday afternoon which caused his death early Sunday morning.

Mr. Willet was the son of Dr. Joseph E. Willet, for many years a professor at Mercer University, and was a grandson of Dr. Billington M. Sanders, Mercer's first president, whose memory will be honored next month in connection with the centennial commencement exercises at the university. Mr. Willet graduated at Mercer when it was located at Penfield, Ga., in Greene county.
Entering business in Augusta following his graduation, Mr. Willet formed the N. L. Willet Seed Company and the Augusta Drug Company. He was a regular contributor to the Augusta Chronicle for many years and was the author of several books, including "Nature in the Witness Box." He was particularly interested in agriculture and was instrumental in introducing many new crops in Georgia, among which was the soy bean from Japan. He had been retired from active business for the last several years.

In addition to his wife and brother, he is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Laura Willet Riddle, of Atlanta, and Mrs. Omar Holliday, of Palos Verdes Estates, Cal.
Following simple rites in Warrenton, the body will be taken to Port Washington, Tibbitt's Point, Long Island, for interment in the family cemetery of his wife. The funeral probably will be held Tuesday.

Hitler Eulogized.

BERLIN, May 14.—(AP)—Former Crown Princess Cecilie eulogized Chancellor Hitler today at a meeting in which the Koenigstein Linsen Band, a rightist patriotic women's society formerly under the wing of the nationalists, acknowledged the Nazi chief as its supreme leader.

COL. PEYTON H. SNOOK WILL BE BURIED TODAY

Distinguished Pioneer Citizen of Atlanta To Rest at West View.

Atlanta leaders will pay last tribute at 11 o'clock this morning to Colonel Peyton H. Snook, 93, Confederate veteran and prominent Atlantan, who died Saturday morning. He was widely known over the state as a merchant and civic leader.

Services will be conducted at the residence, at 1202 Cleburne avenue, with Bishop H. J. Mikell and Dean Raimundo de Ories officiating. Burial will be in West View cemetery.
Colonel Snook was a pioneer Atlantan, being one of the first to begin the rebuilding of the city after the War Between the States, through which he served with distinction. He was prominent as a churchman and was a member of St. Philip's cathedral.
Palbearers at the rites will be J. J. Haverly, Canon William S. Turner, John Paschal, R. S. Melone, Linton Hopkins and Laurence Everhart. H. M. Patterson & Son are in charge.

PHILHARMONIC GROUP TO PRESENT "MARTHA"

The Atlanta Philharmonic Society, V. H. Kreisshaber, president, will produce the opera "Martha," Flowing, in concert form, at 8:30 o'clock Tuesday night, May 23, in Wesley Memorial auditorium. L. G. Nilson, supervisor of music in Atlanta schools, will conduct the chorus of 110 voices, with a selected group of 35 musicians from the Philharmonic orchestra playing the accompaniments. Admission will be 50 cents, and no seats will be reserved.
Principals taking part in the production are: Miss Vivian Bryant, soprano, as "Martha"; Miss Lillian Smith, mezzo-soprano, as "Nancy"; Vaughn Osmer, tenor, as "Lionel"; Coleman Kimbro, baritone, as "Plunkett"; Ed Werner, baritone, as "Tristram"; and N. P. Lee, basso, as the sheriff.

Jinkying Is His Diversion

Everyone knows that crime does not pay, but Chief T. O. Sturdivant, of the Atlanta police department, found a way to solve some of the crimes which are committed by those who have not found this out. The chief is shown above relaxing after solving some of the problems in the life of a police chief. The chief is cutting a jinky to enter in the contest next Wednesday at 137 Peachtree Arcade. He went to one of Atlanta's leading stores and got jinkys absolutely free. He made a purchase of $2.50, asked for his ten jinky receipts, and is busy during his off hours making jinkys to enter in the contest. You have just as good a chance as anyone. Start jinkying today. You may win some of the 3,000 prizes.

200 Constitution Carriers To Be Given Theater Party

Two hundred Constitution carriers and carrier-helpers will be guests tonight of the Georgia theater at the annual Constitution carrier party. They will see "Elmer, the Great," starring Joe E. Brown in a snappy baseball picture.
The carriers will meet City Circulation Manager J. H. Mose at the Constitution office at 7 o'clock tonight and they will leave the office in time to reach the theater at 7:30. Carriers are invited to bring their helpers and, if they haven't a helper, a gentleman friend.

MRS. E. L. CULPEPPER PASSES AT RESIDENCE

Mrs. Ernest L. Culpepper, of 41 Peachtree place, N. E., well-known Atlanta woman, died Sunday morning at her residence, following an extended illness. Her husband, who died four years ago, was an Atlanta contractor.

She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. M. G. Williams, a granddaughter, Barbara Lee Williams, two sisters, Mrs. Thomas Cooper, of New Market, Tenn., and Mrs. Sarah Brannan, of Palouse, Wash., and two brothers, Charles Greenlee, of Pittsburgh, Pa., and G. A. Greenlee, of Sanford, Fla. Funeral services are to be held at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Spring Hill chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son, with the Rev. E. L. Flanagan officiating. Interment will be in West View cemetery.

FEDERAL ENGINEER HERE TO AID DRIVE ON TYPHOID FEVER

T. H. Milford, sanitary engineer of the United States public health department, arrived in Atlanta last week from Montgomery, Ala., to assist Dr. W. N. Adkins, county health officer, in an intensive campaign to be waged in Fulton county against typhoid.
Mr. Milford is a specialist on sanitation and will devote his work principally to the rural districts. He will remain in Atlanta at least until the end of the health service's fiscal year, Dr. Adkins said.
Mr. Milford is a graduate of Texas A. & M. and of Harvard and has been in government service for more than ten years. For the last seven years he has been attached to the state health department of Alabama and is now stationed here under government orders. His services are given the county by the government without cost.

WORKERS FOR BLIND TO MEET WEDNESDAY

Election of officers and reports of the past year will be features of the annual meeting of the Georgia Association of Workers for the Blind of the Fifth District at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the Henry Grady hotel. A musical program also will be given.
President J. P. McGrath will read his annual report, as will Miss Ida V. Rhoads, Mrs. Martha A. Bigham, Miss Beverly Wheatcroft, who are committee chairmen. Merchandise made by the blind of Atlanta will be on display, and members of the association are urged to attend the meeting. The public is invited. Henry A. Mullins and Roland Tomlinson will be featured in the musical events.

$250,000 DAMAGE DONE BY WATERFRONT BLAZE

NEW YORK, May 14.—(AP)—Flames which defied the combined efforts of fire fighters on land and on water to halt their spread swept through a boathouse on the Hudson river today, destroyed 150 small craft and left property valued at $250,000 in ashes.

U. S. WILL RELAX MEDICINAL LIQUOR PROVISIONS TODAY

WASHINGTON, May 14.—(AP)—Some federal officials here expect a sharp increase in the consumption of medicinal liquor starting tomorrow when the new law relaxing prescription restrictions becomes effective, but there is plenty of whisky available in bonded warehouses.

Figures of the industrial alcohol bureau show approximately 5,000,000 gallons of pre-prohibition whisky still on hand. In addition, about 6,000,000 gallons of green whisky will begin reaching the four-year maturity point in the fall. Distilleries were permitted to begin manufacturing liquor again in 1929, as the stock in the warehouses began to show signs of running out.

Since consumption of prescription whisky was only about 1,000,000 gallons last year, officials expect that even with the increased consumption there is sufficient domestic whisky to fill all demands without resorting to imports.

J., and Atlanta will become the chief operating offices of the company.

PASSAGE THIS WEEK OF SHOALS BILL SEEN

WASHINGTON, May 14.—(AP)—The administration's Muscle Shoals-Tennessee basin development bill will become law before the end of this week, thereby putting the war-time project to work after nearly 15 years of congressional indecision.

Conferees prepared to submit their report to the senate and house tomorrow and leaders hoped for action by Tuesday on the part of both branches. Differences between their respective measures were adjusted yesterday, the house conferees approving the principal features of the Norris bill passed by the senate.

Urban League Bulletin

By JESSE O. THOMAS.
A conference of white and negro leaders from all parts of Alabama was held at Tuskegee a few days ago to consider the report of a survey of nine cotton-growing communities of small farmers and 30 plantations of share tenants in four counties, typical of both farms tilled by negro farmers, land owners, and share tenants.

The survey comprised studies made by the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, under direction of Dr. Benson Y. Landis and Dr. George E. Haynes. The field work of gathering facts was done by Ernest A. Grant, of the agricultural department of Tuskegee Institute.

The survey dealt with questions of cash and other returns from farming, white and negro land ownership, contractual relations of white landlords and negro tenants' credit, and credit sources for negro farmers such as tool equipment on farms, housing, sanitation and health.

The data covered 322 small farms operated by negroes showed that 43.5 per cent of the farms were negro owned, 37.5 per cent were operated by negro tenants and 19 per cent by negro croppers. The survey included a series of cash records of both successful and unsuccessful efforts of negro farmers to buy land and houses of their own. The study of credit showed that short-term loans now come

ATLANTA, GA., MAY 15, 1933.

THE TOLL OF RECKLESSNESS.

In view of the drive now being made in Atlanta to reduce the number of automobile accidents on the city's public thoroughfares, the results of a questionnaire sent out by the Institute of Traffic Engineers,
of New York, in the effort to ascertain to what extent speed is responsible for traffic accidents, is of particular interest.

The consensus of opinion of the traffic experts to which the questionnaire was sent is that speed in itself is not dangerous unless combined with recklessness or other factors which cause it to become a threat to the safety of the users of
public highways.

Recklessness is responsible in
nine cases out of ten for the thousands of accidents which occur daily
throughout the United States. Statistics prepared by the federal government show that 90 per cent of auto accidents are caused by 10 per cent of our drivers—the element of
those owning and operating automobiles who seemingly care neither
for their own safety nor that of others.

The drivers' license law proposed
for Atlanta would strike directly at this 10 per cent of our drivers by giving the police the club of suspension or revocation of their license if they persist in wilfully
ignoring the traffic ordinances.

Other cities have materially reduced their accident tolls by the enactment of such laws and Atlanta should not fail to do so now.

LOUISIANA AND LONG.

No other state is as politically
torn as Louisiana by the now nearly
a decade-old wrangle between the adherents and the opponents of Senator Huey Long. To his followers
he is the savior of the people's rights,
but his name is anathema to those who have met defeat at every turn in their efforts to wrest the political
control of the state from his hands.

The latest broadside to be delivered against the self-styled Kingfish
is a conspicuously displayed first-
page editorial in the New Orleans States, in which Long is accused,
under the heading, "The Price Louisiana Is Paying for Longism,"
of responsibility for most of the ills
that have befallen the state in recent years.

Long is to blame, holds the States, for the elimination of sugar
from the farm relief bill, this being
one of the state's chief industries.
Sugar pays the penalty, it is alleged, because Long is at odds with the federal administration.

Furthermore, cites the New Orleans paper, Long is largely responsible for the fact that the banking
situation in that city is worse than
in any other city, with $100,000,- 000 of frozen deposits having paralyzed
trade and business.

Long's filibuster against the banking bill and his "contemptible attacks" on the administration are the stumbling blocks standing in the way of the correction of the disastrous banking situation, it is charged.

Louisiana's bonds, says the States,
have been depressed to 40 cents on
the dollar because boards of control have become political footballs
tossed about by Long, and his malign influence has caused New Orleans to drop from second place
in the country to fifth. The levee
board is charged with squandering
money at Long's direction and then
attempting to get it back through
the levy of extra taxes.

Even more serious charges are
hinted at in references to Long's activities in connection with the sudden withdrawal of suits for $500,000 for overdue taxes against
a group of large corporations.

These, and other alleged acts of Long, have brought Louisiana, according to the States, to the point where—

The credit of the state and city
have been all but ruined; our modern
highways, despite the tens of millions
spent, not to say the millions wasted
on them, are in peril of deterioration
from inadequate maintenance; our
educational system has collapsed,
school terms throughout the state
gravely shortened, thousands of teachers meagerly paid or paid only in
I. O. U.'s; many of our courts are charged with the taint of corruption;
our taxes are steadily mounting while
the costs of our government remain
undiminished, in comparison with declining taxes and costs in our neighboring states; the public debt rises
enormously by needless and extravagant expenditures. And every session
of the legislature since 1928 has raised
taxes or inflicted new ones.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

The Nazi.

He was a tall, blond lad, a real
northern type, whom one would call Heinrich or Herman without the slightest hesitation. He was sitting in the waiting room watching the train
for Marseilles. He came over to ask if I knew what minute the train
went. "I don't speak French," he said.
"I thought maybe you are a German."

"Do I look like one?" I came back.
"Ach, so you are a German," he said.
"Well, all right, wohin gehst du reisen?" (Where are you going?)
"To India," he said. And so the story was told.

He had worked for three years on a sugar plantation on Sumatra in the Dutch East Indies. He came home on a freighter because it was cheaper. He had five months' leave. But the freighter called at 64 ports before reaching Hamburg and the journey home had taken nearly three months. Four weeks home. And now he was going back east. What had he done during his stay in the Heimat? Oh, he had made a few little trips with some Gretchen. He had looked up his grandparents in Stuttgart, but most of his time he had spent attending
meetings of the national-socialist party.

When he speaks of the Fuehrer, the leader, the German duce, his eyes become dreamy. "Our Adolf knows
everything, can do everything and will do everything!"

He tells me several instances of the great Adolf's miracle-working power.
And such a speaker. Did I want to hear Hitler's voice? Here were a dozen gramophone discs with snatches
of speeches of the leader. He put the discs on. The French people in the waiting room looked up in amazement.
Here is a passage that made my new acquaintance clench his fists: "Wir
sollen uns nicht länger betriegen lassen" (we will not let ourselves be deceived any longer) and "wir haben schon lange genug geduldet" (we have had patience long enough). "They
made a people of slaves of us, but now
it's finished," he said.

"How so finished? Has anything changed?" I asked.

"Changed?" he came back in surprise. "But everything is changed!"

Always this lack of critical sense.
You find it among high and low. If there are any changes in Germany,
they are changes for the worse. A mere glance at unemployment statistics and banking returns will conclusively show this.

Get Going!

"Buy something, buy anything, anywhere; paint your kitchen, send a telegram, give a party, get a car, pay a
bill, rent a flat, fix your car, get a
haircut, see a show, build a house,
take a trip, sing a song, get married.
It does not matter what you do—but get going and keep going. This is the world is starting to move. This is the message to employees posted on the walls of the Edison factory in New Jersey by Charles Edison, the son of the famous inventor."

ROOSEVELT AS A DIPLOMAT.

The world-wide acceptance of the American plan for a universal tariff truce is a striking testimonial
to the diplomatic ability of President Roosevelt.

Each of the emissaries from other nations who have come to Washington during the past two weeks to confer with the president on plans
for the rehabilitation of world conditions has departed smiling and
fired with an optimistic faith that
under American leadership the way
will be safely found out of the morass
of international distrust and selfishness.

Without exception these foreign
diplomats have found the going far
from easy when they got home to make their report on the results of the Washington conferences. Even MacDonald and Herriot met with cold receptions by their respective governments when they outlined
the suggestions made by President Roosevelt.

Fortunately for the welfare of the world, these diplomats have
been able to convey the enthusiasm
and optimism of the American president into their reports and thus overcome the spirit of doubt and opposition, born of age-old national rivalries and antipathies, with which they were confronted upon their return from the United States.

The immediate result of the change about face in the attitude
of England, France, Germany and Italy is that the prospects for the success of the London economic conference, which were decidedly
gloomy only a week ago, have
brightened practically over night
and now general assurance is felt
that these sessions may mark the beginning of a new era of friendly
and healthful trade relations between the nations of the world.

MacDonald, Herriot and Jung
are among the most seasoned diplomats of the old world nations.
That such men leave the White House imbued with a confident,
even a fighting, optimism is elo-
quent testimony to the basic soundness and the impelling nature of President Roosevelt's diplomacy.

No achievement of the president
since his inauguration was more significant of his inherent genius as a leader than the success of his
conferences with the visiting diplomats, his first real expedition into
the thickly pitfall field of international diplomacy.

It's a shame not to enlist vets
in the forestry army. How they would enjoy thumbing their noses
at the bugler blowing reveille.

You can't expect much in a world where statesmen cross the ocean just to decide what they'll
talk about next time.

You can't blame the French.
They were early settlers when America was new, but what did
they get for it?

States can draw population by exempting $5,000 homes from taxation—if they don't want
builders and architects.

An old-timer says boarding-
house atmosphere is good training
for fighters. And think of the reach it develops.

The era of dictators at least enables a famous woman's husband
to say that he lives like a king.

THE SCIENTIST KILLED BY RADIIUM

Died That Others Might Live

By Robert Quillen

If your mind rejects the idea of a Creator and assumes that the universe began and developed by itself, you must regard all religions as superstitious nonsense.

But if your mind accepts the existence of the universe as sufficient proof of a Creator, as the existence of a machine argues the existence of a machine-maker, simple logic should enable you to clear away the mysteries that now close your mind to the religion of your race.

If there was a Creator, with power to form matter and life and energy and the laws that control them, He must exist today. The planets still travel their ordered way; the laws still function.

If the Creator still exists, and His power is unchanged, the laws that govern the universe are still subject to His will. The power that can make a law can unmake it—else the creature is greater than its Creator.

If the Creator can change or set aside His law—the law we call "natural"—He can raise up a man to save the world in a crisis.

Then why doubt the divine origin of Jesus, the Savior of mankind, whose teachings have directed the destiny of the race for two thousand years?

Perhaps you can believe in Him, and yet your reason is offended by the assertion that His sacrifice on the cross was necessary to save mankind.

You can't conceive of an offended God, determined to have some kind of blood sacrifice, and willing to spare sinful men only on condition that Jesus die in their place. Your reason rejects the idea that a just God would require the blood of an innocent to appease His wrath at the guilty.

Is that it? Well, look at it in another way.

A king has seven sons. Six of them tire of his authority and take up arms in open rebellion. He could send an army to slay them, but he desires their love and loyalty—not their death.

To win them back he sends his seventh and youngest son with a message offering forgiveness. This youngest one knows he will be regarded as an enemy and killed before his identity is discovered. Yet he goes willingly, to please his father and save his brothers.

His sacrifice is necessary, for there is no other way to deliver the message. He dies that others may live. He gives himself as a ransom for many.

Where, then, is the mystery? The hero who gives his life for others pleases God, but not because God desires his death.

HOLLYWOOD IN PERSON

BY MOLLIE MERRICK.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., May 14.—The smartest thing in the Hollywood
world, these days, is to make about
three costumes look like a dozen or more by the clever manipulation of accessories and combination of costume parts.

Lilyan Tashman was one of the first of the colony's sartorialists to try this successfully—and, I must confess, long before anyone else dreamed of it. She would take the belt of one frock and put it on another frock
and put the entire thing with the coat of the still another costume. And that was that.

As a result she escaped the monotony which sometimes follows when
one costume is worn faithfully as it originally came.

Take Claudette Colbert's simple
straight slip-like dress of heavy material, laced up the back. It is cut on his tailored lines, is long for sports, and
the wear which makes it adaptable to
the summer afternoon informal tea party
or cocktail dress. The wily little Colbert has a known number of of the same material, is formally
informal and fetching to a degree.

With this she wears fine white suede
gloves without buttons and at least four sizes larger than any she has worn for several seasons. It is chic for ladies' hands to swim about
in their gloves. Last season they merely were comfortable and with room to spare.

Now let us assume La Colbert has come in from the somewhat informal
beach, sun and is getting herself
ready for the more formal cocktail
party to which she wears the costume
described above. She has but seven

minutes in which to effect this change
because a picture star's life is not a leisurely one. What does she do?

She has come in looking very chi-
chi and cute with a coat of brilliant
blue cotton, with yellow dots all over
it. The ties of this coat form a great
cat bow under her cute little chin
and a beret made of the tiniest detail
of the material, with a yellow dot all over it, she has on. She has on brilliant yellow socks and sports shoes
of the same material as her full-fling
little coat with the great bow.

It only takes seven minutes to slip
out of the shoes and socks and into
white buckskin shoes with high heels
and a very smart design in punch-
work. The rest you know—cape of the white of the cotton, which has been
all the time under the blue coat—and white fez. Another pair of gloves
for her hands have been covered with
a brilliant yellow twine—knit mittens
—and she's off looking very formal
after a most informal entrance.

A lot more very cute things may be done with this same dress. There is,
for instance, the jacket of black linen
—sable as the night—which she sometimes tops it off with. This jacket
is very broad at the shoulders and tapering at the waist. It sports a check of black linen and if the Colbert wears a scarf, she chooses one of finest black handkerchief linen with a tiny design in white. These black linen neck gadgets are more than chic. But the linen must be so fine
that you can slip the entire thing
through a little finger ring.

And one day I saw her with a box
of candy, pink and white, and what looked almost like a little jockey cap
of the same. The shoes that day were
of pique also—candy pink and with heels. But the dress was that same black linen, which saves so much of her time by its sheer adaptability
to her many whims.

an, says he did all he could to defeat
Franklin D. Roosevelt for president.
But now he is "thoroughly loyal to him"
because his efforts "have begun the upswing."

This is a real beginning," the
chairman of the board of the Baldwin
Locomotive Works said in an interview yesterday. "It is not one of those abortive flurries we had in 1930 and 1932, and it is going to swing more rapidly than the average person would expect."

Health Talks

ELECTRO-SURGERY A BLESS-ING FOR GRANDFATHERS.

Candidly, I don't know whether this grandfather is eligible for fellowship in the Grandfathers' Guild or not. He is as good as his age as a spinsters
of the nineties, and so far as his letter and his signature indicate he might be a spinsters' man. It reads
in this fashion: I. M. Nott—you have two guesses whether it means Ike or Inez. But maybe it's all right. Times
are hard and a ruler friend is worth
to save a bit in the printing and the cost of ink.

"Knowing you are interested in
the subject of surgery, I take the liberty
of stating my case to you, for through you
it may prevent others from enduring
the misery I went through."

"My case was prostate obstruction. I was operated on (the old way) in December, 1931.
In hospital seven weeks suffering
great pain, also one month in bed
at home. For a year afterward the abdominal wound drained."

"Through your column I learned
of the new method and I consulted Dr. Brady, whom you recommended as skilled in transurethral
electro-surgery. He operated on me December 12, 1932. I spent three days in hospital. It reads
had no pain or trouble whatsoever. The normal passage was restored in a few days, and now I am happy."

"Have been benefited by your Iodin Ration and Belly Breathing,
too. May your good work go on."

Even if he attempted to offer detailed explanation of the subject few laymen could understand it. Suffice
to say that a gradual development of
the bladder, that of the elderly
men is usually due to hypertrophy of enlargement of the prostate, and if
the condition is permitted to drift
long for months or years physical health is steadily impaired and mental vigor declines—the man, who has perhaps been the ruler of his domain and made all decisions becomes capricious and irresolute. He is a tough customer to convince. So he drifts along.

This new departure, whereby the
skilled urological surgeon can deal
successfully with a considerable number, though not all cases of prostatic
obstruction, is a special dispensation
for grandfathers, as I see it, because it is so much less formidable an operation to face that it should and does
encourage many victims to submit to operation before general health has been too gravely impaired. This new method the portion of the enlarged
prostate that compresses and ob-

JAPANESE COMMANDERS
CLAIM STEADY PROGRESS

TOKYO, May 14.—(AP)—Four major
generals, commanding infantry brigades in the Japanese army west of the Luan river, claim that they are making steady progress in the direction of Fengjien and Tientsin. Rengo
dispatches from the north China front
today announced.

These commanders—Kunizo Mats-
uda, of the 11th infantry brigade;
Yoshikazu Takata, of the 33rd brigade; Tetsu Hara, of the 28th brigade;
and Heijiro Hattori, of the 14th brigade—report that they have routed
and killed hundreds of the Chinese troops
opposing them.

Airplanes are helping these units
to blast their way westward, especially by the heavy air bombardments
of the Chinese concentration positions at Tientsin and at Miyun.

Major General Tadashi Kawahara,
commanding the 16th infantry brigade, and Major General Yoshimichi Suzuki, leading the fourth infantry
brigade, have completed the occupation of Shihshiaichan and have pressed
onward in the direction of Miyun.

Two persons were treated at Grady hospital today for bone fractures. They were Mrs. Elizabeth McGuire, 629
Chestnut street, fracture of the right leg, and W. L. Moore, 25, Dunwoody, Ga., fracture of the right arm.

DIARY HELD FOR CLUE TO SLAYER OF RIDLEY

NEW YORK, May 14.—(AP)—A ton and a half of records, correspond-

from the gloomy office of Edward Albert Ridley, murdered mortgage
broker, yielded today a coded diary
which police hope may furnish a clue

The diary appeared to be in the handwriting of Herman Moench, another secretary, who was slain two years ago with the same pistol, ballistic experts think that the Weinstein's life. The diary seemed to be a record of Ridley's doings, amounts ranging from a few hundred dollars
to many thousands being written in
posse initials with cipher notations.

MISHAPS IN SOUTH KILL 12 PERSONS

Drownings, Automobile Fatalities Lead List With Five Each.

By the Associated Press.

Twelve persons died in week-end accidents reported in the south, drownings and automobile fatalities leading the list with five deaths each.

A train killed one person and another was killed by a motorcycle.

Four of the deaths occurred in Georgia, two each in Tennessee, North Carolina and Mississippi, and one each in Florida and Kentucky.

The deaths: Georgia—The Rev. Elsie Squires, 21, Baptist minister, in an automobile wreck at Moultrie; Julius Tripp, University of Georgia sophomore, drowned in a lake at Athens; Eugene Hones, fell into the Chattahoochee river and drowned at Gainesville; William Shepherd, hit by a train at Milledgeville.

Tennessee—Willie Keeler, 35, of Newport, killed in automobile collision at Chattanooga; Mrs. Lillie George, 36, killed by an automobile at Nashville.

North Carolina—Joe Eilers, 28, drowned while trying to swim the Tar river at Rocky Mount; R. J. Harbin, 62, killed by an automobile at Winston-Salem.

Mississippi—Arthur Mellen, Mississippi State University senior, killed in automobile-motorcycle collision at State College; James Miller, 13, drowned in Loxapala river when boat overturned.

Kentucky—Howard Pennington, 20, Calumet Farms jockey, killed in automobile accident.

Florida—Miss Farris Norman, 17, of Orlando, drowned while on a swimming party in the Gulf of Mexico at St. Petersburg.

Hitler Framing Sharp Reply To Anglo-French Arms Stand

BERLIN, May 14.—(UP)—Chancellor Adolf Hitler intends to deliver a sharp reply to French and British refusals to admit Germany's right to rearm when he addresses the reichstag on Wednesday, it was learned tonight.

Hitler, it was understood, will stress the alleged failure of methods followed at the arms conference in Geneva, where German delegates uttered this threat to rearm unless the former World War allies curtail their armaments as provided in the treaty of Versailles.

Furthermore, the fiery little chancellor will sharply reject charges made public at Paris last week, that Germany is arming secretly.

He is expected to issue a warning that Germany will disregard any form of an ultimatum, as hinted in the French and English press.

Hitler probably will assert Germany's innocence on charges of being responsible for the present deadlock in the Geneva arms party, declaring her innocence is demonstrated by Berlin's acceptance of the British arms reduction plan, while "reasonable reservations" as the basis for the arms committee's discussions.

A flat charge that France is to blame for the arms deadlock possibly will be made in this report on the Geneva proceedings, for which Hitler suddenly summoned the adjourned reichstag to convene Wednesday.

ARMAMENTS SITUATION WORRYING WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, May 14.—(AP)—The delicate armaments situation centering around Germany tonight held the attention of American statesmen who regarded it as having an important bearing on the prospects of success at the world monetary and economic conference opening at London, June 12.

Officials showed great interest in the announced purpose of Chancellor Hitler, of Germany, to state his government's armaments policy in a speech at the reichstag on Wednesday. German objection to features of the British arms reduction plan has blocked action temporarily at the Geneva conference.

ENRAGED FARMERS BATTLE TEAR GAS IN DUMPING MILK

through deputy lines in Racine county and spilled 500 gallons of milk. Two alleged participants were arrested.

In Illinois, no disorder was reported and E. L. Bost, leader of the strike in the northern part of the state, said an armistice had been effected pending negotiations to boost milk prices. Most milk movements into Chicago today were unaffected. The city faced no immediate shortage. Distributors in the city announced a 1-cent a quart increase for retail delivery, making quarts 10 cents. It was indicated the action would bring about a raise from $1.45 to $1.75 per hundred pounds for farmers.

A shortage of milk loomed for many Wisconsin cities and health officers today said they would direct collection of milk for children and invalids under authorization granted by a proclamation of the governor. The proclamation also closed dairy plants for the duration of the strike.

DAIRY INDUSTRY AID TO BE HASTENED BY U. S.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—(AP)—The dairy industry was singled out today to receive the first concrete benefit from the farm relief act as Secretary Wallace and George N. Peek, chief administrator, together plunged deep despite the Sabbath into their drive "to raise farm prices."

The first definite result hoped for by them from the act, signed Friday by President Roosevelt, will be a trade agreement covering prices of fluid milk supplies for the Chicago metropolitan area.

It was reported today that most of the details have been worked out for an agreement under which the price of milk to farmers in Wisconsin, Illinois and Indiana supplying the Chicago market, will be raised, and the price to the consumer stabilized at around 10 cents a quart, a rise of one cent.

If the agreement in its final form meets with the approval of Wallace and Peek, they are prepared to enforce it by refusing licenses to minorities which refuse to observe its requirements. It was said that use

The part the United States will play in the efforts to surmount the obstacles to real progress toward disarmament will be directed from the White House and executed through Norman H. Davis, President Roosevelt's special ambassador.

NORMAN DAVIS CONFERES WITH PAUL-BONCOUR TODAY

PARIS, May 14.—(AP)—The urgent need of disarmament to calm Europe and to facilitate world reconstruction will be urged by Norman H. Davis, American ambassador at large, tomorrow when he confers with Foreign Minister Paul-Boncour upon the situation created by Germany's armament demands.

Mr. Davis, who arrived yesterday from London, will emphasize the need for both political and economic peace, a subject now at an acute stage because of the deadlock at Geneva and the approach of the world economic conference at London.

It is possible that the American ambassador will discuss French tariff policies as it affects the United States and discriminations such as the preferences given to Italy and to Belgium.

HERRIOT SEES ROOSEVELT AS FACTOR FOR PEACE

MARSEILLES, France, May 14.—(AP)—Ex-Premier Edouard Herriot, speaking here today on his recent talks with President Roosevelt at Washington, pictured French hopes for American support against any aggressor in "these troubled hours" of dictators.

Mr. Herriot cited the recent discussions between President Roosevelt and Edouard Schacht, Germany's special envoy, as "seemingly to confirm the capital interest" of Mr. Roosevelt's agreement that protection should be denied to the state which traffics with an aggressor.

The former premier of France emphasized "the essential importance" of what he termed the American president's decision to support Article 16 of the League of Nations covenant, which provides a boycott against an attacking power.

New Submarine Base May Go to Key West

WASHINGTON, May 14.—(AP)—Chairman Vinson, democrat, of Georgia, said today the house naval committee would hold hearings this session on the Sears bill to establish a naval base at Key West, Fla.

"The committee is very busy just now and I do not know exactly when the hearings will be held," Vinson said, "but Mr. Sears, democrat, of Florida, who is a member of the committee, will be accorded a hearing."

"Of course we do not contemplate establishing a large base at Key West, but there has been some thought of putting a submarine base there."

LAMONT'S SON CHARGED WITH SPEEDING IN CAR

DENVER, May 14.—(AP)—Robert P. Lamont Jr., of Lakewood, Colo., son of the secretary of commerce in the Hoover cabinet, was charged with speeding by Denver police after his motorcar collided with another at a street intersection last night.

Irene Macaul, 23, of Denver, a passenger in the other machine, suffered a broken collarbone. Lamont was not injured.

MRS. DALL TAKES PLACE ON MAGAZINE'S STAFF

NEW YORK, May 14.—Mrs. Curtis Dall, daughter of President and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, has signed a contract with Liberty Weeklies and will become a member of the staff and a regular contributor, the magazine announced tonight.

The announcement said Mrs. Dall has long been interested in a literary career and expects to give considerable time to her new work.

She was associate editor of Babies—Just Babies, the publication of which her mother was editor and which is to be discontinued with its June issue.

COFFIN AGAIN ASKS NATIONAL COUNCIL

Capitalist Presents Outline for Non-Partisan Governmental Group.

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—Leaders of the Roosevelt administration and members of congress today were presented with an elaborate booklet by two noted engineers outlining a concise proposal for setting up a non-partisan non-political national planning agency to co-ordinate the various programs that have been put forward for the rehabilitation of industry.

Establishment of a "council of national security" and an "industrial commission," composed of cabinet officers, on the one hand, and recognized leaders in the field of industry, on the other, was urged upon the administration as a necessary prerequisite to any lasting solution of our complicated economic difficulties.

Aided by Stuart.

The booklet was prepared by Howard E. Coffin, capitalist of Sapelo Island, Ga., former member of a similar agency which functioned during the World War, and Charles E. Stuart, president of the engineering firm of Stuart, James & Cooke, Inc., of New York. Mr. Stuart is the American engineer praised by George Bernard Shaw, British dramatist, for his "very remarkable report" on the coal industry of Russia—a report which led Mr. Shaw to predict the American engineer's banishment to Siberia but which, to everyone's surprise, was accepted by the supreme council of the U. S. S. R.

While disclaiming any thought of criticizing any of the several legislative proposals aimed at the mobilization of the country's resources, Mr. Coffin in a foreword declared that the problems of our national economy are so inextricably interwoven one with another as to make isolated or piecemeal treatment impossible.

"The setting up of a non-partisan and non-political national planning agency," he added, "is a necessary prerequisite to any adequate approach for the lasting solution of the complex difficulties which continue to so sorely oppress us."

Referring to the council of national defense with the civilian advisory commission which was established by congressional authority in 1916 for the co-ordination of industries and resources, he pointed out that "there already exists a statute, a legalized mechanism, tested through four years of achievement in the national service, which, by process of simple amendment, may provide all additional powers needed to effect self government of industry and resources, which now prevent constructive co-operation to this end."

WAR MOTHERS HOLD MEMORIAL SERVICE AT ARLINGTON ARCH

WASHINGTON, May 14.—(AP)—Under the white marble arch of Arlington cemetery amphitheater that says "We here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain," American war mothers today held their own version of Mother's Day services.

There was a message of solace to mothers whose sons valorously died 15 years ago in the World War, and Gold Star Mothers, with garlands of green and white, formed the aisle of honor for the annual decoration of the Unknown Soldier's tomb.

The elliptical amphitheater was fringed with fluttering flags. A clouded sky made its canopy. A humid heat intensified the quietude. The crowd was but a handful in that great place, dominated by the fragrance and the greenness of the second Sunday in May.

To mothers whose sons went down on the Akron, to mothers of this era's "transient youth," as well as to mothers of World War soldiers, Secretary of War Dern addressed words of comfort.

"To the mothers whose sons are living," he said, "but who by reason of adversity have been forced away from the home fireside and are roaming the country seeking a livelihood, for themselves and for you, be assured that your government has your interests at heart."

Appropriation by congress and the appointment of members of the commission is needed to bring this economic planning body immediately into the country's service, he asserted. The name of the agency and its application to present-day problems would be changed in the appropriation measure.

Under the terms of the proposal laid before the administration the council of national security would be composed of seven members of the cabinet, treasury, war, navy, interior, agriculture, commerce and labor—all closely in touch with the economic life of the nation. The industrial commission would be composed of nine civilians, "chosen for experience in the fields of industry, agriculture, labor, transportation, engineering, science, public relations, finance, economics, or otherwise especially qualified."

Fechner Enjoys 'Chow' With Forestry Workers CAMP ROOSEVELT, Va., May 14.—(AP)—Robert Fechner, director of emergency conservation work, and a party of friends today had "chow" at this forestry camp deep in the Virginia mountains.

Assistant Director Charles Taylor and several ladies accompanied the director on the trip.

With Captain Henry B. Wilkinson, officer in charge, the director made a detailed inspection of the camp and inquired into the effect of plans being tried out here preliminary to their installation in other camps that are to be established. Mr. Fechner said the camp here had passed the stage of experiment and was a proven success.

ST. PHILIP'S CATHEDRAL PLANS NEW BUILDING

building will be ready for occupancy by next August 1.

The temporary church will be a frame structure and will be rolled to the rear of the church property to be used as Sunday school rooms when the new church is erected.

Provisions have been made to enlarge both the new church and the grounds should occasion arise, the dean said. An option has been taken on 100 feet of land north of the new site and will be purchased if a larger church is to be built.

Old St. Philip's cathedral, a landmark at Washington and Hunter streets for many years, will be partly dismantled to provide for the new building. The altar, communion hall, organ, pews, windows and memorials will be moved to the new location.

The church is in good financial condition, according to the statement read by Dean de Ovies. It owns valuable property in several locations. Bishop H. J. Mickel, Dean de Ovies and Canon William S. Turner, St. Philip's clergy, will officiate at the opening services and exercises on the first Sunday in August. The class of adults now being prepared for confirmation will be presented and the celebration of the Holy Communion will be held.

Discussion of a new building has been going on in St. Philip's Cathedral for some time, rumors of a new building having been heard several times within the last year. The announcement was made Sunday from the pulpit to the congregation to forestall premature publicity, it was said.

LAKEWOOD PARK'S 'MOTHER' PROGRAM ATTENDED BY 3,000

The Mother's Day program at Lakewood Sunday afternoon attracted more than 3,000 persons, and so popular was the program and the community singing, led by Dan Hornaby, there will be more singing next Sunday, officials announced.

Sunday marked the opening of the annual spring festival at Lakewood. Snowball, radio partner of Sunshine, delivered a message on Motherhood, and there was music by the Atlanta concert band.

Miss Jesse Reese, soprano soloist, sang several songs appropriate to the occasion.

Mike Benton, president of the Southeastern Fair Association, arranged the program. Benton said that it was the plan of the association to observe a fitting program on all future Mother's Days.

H. CURTIS ELLIOTT, 11 LOCUST AVE., NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y.

CURTIS ELLIOTT had been looking at new cars for months . . . had driven all three low-priced cars.

He has to drive about 75 miles a day, so economy is important.

"Then along came the new Standard Plymouth Six. A 4-door Six-Cylinder Sedan for $510 clicked with me," says Elliott. "Today I'm driving a Standard Plymouth 4-door Sedan . . . and getting a big kick out of it."

Thanks a lot, Mr. Elliott. We think there are a lot of people like yourself who are looking for this kind of a car.

The Standard has all the features that made Plymouth famous. It's a 70 horse-powered six on a 108-inch wheelbase. With Floating Power engine mountings . . . hydraulic brakes . . . safety-steel bodies . . . Rigid-X, double-drop frame. A solid value.

W. W. MAJOR, 2281 W. GRAND AVE., DETROIT, MICHIGAN

IN DETROIT people know automobiles! In the industry's "home town" everybody has the latest facts about cars . . . even before they happen.

Mr. Major heard that Plymouth was going to bring out a new long wheelbase car . . . and that sounded like just what he wanted.

"I'd been driving one of the other low-priced cars," said Mr. Major. "But I decided to look at the new De Luxe."

"And when Mrs. Major saw that car . . . it was all over. The De Luxe Plymouth was bigger and smarter looking . . . and that's why we bought."

That's a real compliment . . . coming from a Detroit automobile buyer.

And we think it will probably make a lot of people want to see the new Plymouth that caused so much talk. The De Luxe is longer . . . 112-inch wheelbase. With Free Wheeling . . . all-silent transmission . . . Duplate Safety Plate Glass windshield . . . automatic clutch at slight extra cost.

You'll like the new smart radiator . . . with its gleaming chromium grille. You'll like the beautifully styled interior with its deep wide seats . . . handsome paneling . . . even a glove box in the dash to please the ladies.

Everything you could ask for in a car is in the De Luxe Plymouth. There's speed, there's comfort, there's safety, there are thrills.

Isn't it smart to see the De Luxe Plymouth before you buy any car? It's the year's biggest buy in automobiles.

gan to look anxious. "Shall we break down the door," he said doubtfully. "How about a window, Mr. Field? Or is there any other door?" "No other door, and I doubt if you can get in by a window. They all have patent fastenings that can be regulated at any width of opening, but they can't be manipulated from the outside." Buckle suggested a ladder and breaking a window instead of smashing the door. He found Mike, the Fields' chauffeur, who said there was no ladder long enough. "And those doors lock on the inside," went on Mike, "and we can't get at them from the hall. Not a key, you know, a snap lock that turns on the inside." "All right," then, said Buckle, "we'd better go back and report to Mr. Field." "All right," said Hay. "Can't you cut out the whole lock, Mike?" "Yes, sir, I'll get some tools." Mike made short work of his job. When the door swung open they saw a dark, troubled head on the pillow, with the bedclothes drawn close up round the neck. Buckle stepped to the bed, and said loudly, "Come, Mr. Coles, you'll be late." There was no reply, and Buckle, going closer, laid a hand on Bob's forehead. He looked at Field significantly. Hay went to the bed, and pulling down the blanket, looked at the still form, and felt for the heart and pulse. "The boy is dead," he said, turning back to Buckle. "What does it mean?" "He was locked in here alone—"

Then he wasn't murdered, if that's what you're thinking. And nobody could get through those windows." The windows, there were two, were each open about six inches at the top, admitting air, yet giving no possibility for the entrance of a human being. And they were immovable, owing to the efficacy of the patent fastenings. "Don't touch anything," said the capable Buckle. "Maybe it's all right, and maybe it isn't. No doubt Mr. Malden will take her party right back home. I'd better go and report this to her. Lord, what an awful thing!" "But, Buckle, it can't be foul play, you know—"

"Mr. Field, we don't know that. But the people downstairs must be told—at once. Mr. Garth will know just what to do; he's a lawyer, and he's a wise one. Poor young fellow; Mr. Coles was a nice chap." "Yes, I liked him. We can't lock this door, Mike, so you'll have to stand by and keep guard. You'll be relieved as soon as the police get here." "Why the police?" queried Buckle. "But we ought to call a doctor at once." "You're right," said Hay. "Will you look after it?" Buckle went into the dining room, and going straight to Perilla, said, "I have to tell you, Madame, that Mr. Coles passed away in his sleep." "What?" "Yes, I found him dead in his bed. I am at your orders, but I think the first necessity is to call in a doctor." "Wait, Buckle. You're sure he is dead?" "Yes, Mrs. Malden, I am sure." "Then a few moments delay can do no harm. Send a telegram, first of all, to Mr. Stone, asking him to come as soon as he can. Wait, I will write it. Perilla scribbled her message. There, get that off, and then call a doctor. Or will you do that, Rosy?" "I'll do it," said Hilda jumped up and went to the telephone. "Don't any much," advised Perilla. "Just ask him to come immediately, as the case is urgent."

When Hilda returned all listened while Buckle told all there was to tell. "Heart trouble, I suppose," said Malcolm. "They say every other person has it." But Perilla shook her head. She knew how free from heart trouble Corey was, and how he slipped away from her. And now Bob! She could scarcely believe it. Though intensely sorry for him, and for his mother, too, she was not the poignant grief of Corey's death, and Perilla felt strong to cope with this unexpected tragedy.

Hilda said Dr. Crane could be over at once. Perilla had been silent, and it was evident from what she next said that she considered it important. "I want to ask," Perilla said, "that whatever the doctor may say, we do not call the police in until after Mr. Stone gets here. As you doubtless know, he is the most celebrated detective in America. I want him to investigate Bob's death, whether it is a natural death or a suicide or a murder. Dr. Crane will give his opinion, of course, but if, except for him, we can keep the room untouched, it will be of immense assistance to Mr. Stone. I'm not, since Mr. Stone is at present employed by me, I feel justified in asking this favor for him."

"Oh, that's all right, Perilla," Field returned. "Our force is nothing to brag of. A sheriff, and whatever goes along with that. Our big cases are taken care of in Columbus." "That's all very well, but I'm sure we must all get back to New York, and have the matter investigated at that end."

"You're returning back, then, Madame?" "Yes, we must," said Perilla, quickly. "I'm sorry, Rosy, but we shall probably have to stay here another night, and then go back home." "Oh, Perilla, dear, the house is yours for as long as we can be of service to you. Here's the doctor."

Dr. Crane, verging on the elderly, said he would go upstairs at once to see the body. But first he asked a few random questions at the crowd, now gathered in the lounge. "How old was the young man?" he asked. "Between 23 and 24," answered Perilla. "Have you known him long?" "No, but he was my brother's friend, and often was at the house." "Did he seem to you like one who would commit suicide?" "Good heavens, no! The last one I should suspect! Bob was too fond of life."

After Field left with the medical man, Perilla said to Garth, "What do you think, Roger?" "Not enough data to work on yet," Garth returned. "It seems like a natural death. I hope it will prove to be something of that sort; we don't want any more tragic deaths. I hope we can keep the way clear for Fleming Stone. He ought to get here about noon or soon after."

"But if Dr. Crane orders us to have the police in at once, we must do it." They waited mostly in silence for the doctor. When he came down his face was very grave. "It's a queer thing," he said, "but I find no sign of any heart weakness, yet there is no sign of anything else. There was actually nothing the matter with that lad; he was sound from head to foot."

"Well, then?" Malcolm spoke a little sharply. "Then I don't know what to say. It is too much for me, a queer detective, and if I were, I doubt if I could solve this puzzle." "Even considering outside possibilities," said Field, "he couldn't have been shot. There is no weapon of any sort in the room."

"Then," said Garth, "it is one of those 'locked room' problems so frequent in the detective stories." "It's all of that," said Hay, "and then some. I wonder what Mr. Stone will make of it. You see, Bob went upstairs with the rest of us. I showed him to his room myself, showed him how to work the windows—they're a trifle complicated—showed him the snap lock and the key lock and then I left him."

FOUR ORLEANS

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 14.—(AP)—

Orleans won a rampage last week and all but snatched the leadership of the Southern association from Memphis.

When Saturday's games were completed, Memphis' season percentage was .677, while New Orleans

led at .676.

The Pels hit them high, wide and

easy, winning eight games out of ten, and the other one. In the process, they smothered the

Pels with 31 runs and held opponents

to 17 runs. They also made four more runs.

The Lookouts made a more impressive showing than the Barons, although both won the same number of games. While the Birmingham

recs showed 22 runs, 58 hits and 26

errors, Chattanooga had 37

runs and 89 hits. Opponents, however, had 39 runs.

The Chicks, for a number of weeks

league leaders, and Little Rock,

re or less consistent monarchs of

the league, were tied for fourth place

with averages of .375. Each team

beaten five times out of eight, although the Travelers did hold the

leading position to the game.

Memphis made 42 runs, 88 hits and home runs. Opponents scored 41

runs. Little Rock got across 22 runs,

hits and three home runs. Opponents got 35 markers.

Fifth place went to Knoxville,

which had an average of .333 and the lowest position to Atlanta, at .286.

UNION TABLE OF BUSINESS

A General Weekly Review of Commerce and Industry Affecting the Greater Atlanta Trade Territory

Edited By JACK TUBBS

Phenomenal Growth Witnessed by Union Central Since Turn of Century

DANIEL STRESSES INCREASING VALUE OF LIFE INSURANCE

General Agent Completes 35 Years With Company; 'Progressive Budget' Policy Popular.

The ever-increasing importance of insurance in the life of the nation is most favorably illustrated by the growth of the Union Central Life Insurance Company in the last three decades, according to Thomas H. Daniel, general agent for the state of Georgia, with offices in the First National Bank building.

Mr. Daniel, who has just completed his thirty-fifth year with Union Central, as one instance in the growth of the company's business, the fact that in 1898, when he joined the organization, only about $250,000 in life insurance was written by the Georgia office. In 1932 this had mounted to more than $5,500,000, a figure undreamed of at the turn of the century.

Another indication of the phenomenal rise of Union Central to a place among the foremost companies in America is the increase in its assets from about $18,000,000 in 1898 to $329,000,000 at the first of this year.

Mr. Daniel, as a youth of 19, joined Union Central in May, 1898, as a clerk. Demonstrated sales ability brought him shortly thereafter a post as full-time soliciting agent.

Even though he was unusually young for the business, he showed immediate ability and after one year of outstanding production he was advanced to the office of associate general agent. In this supervisory capacity he has been successful in organizing and leading and soon afterward was appointed general agent.

At the time he joined Union Central the Atlanta office territory included only 40 Georgia counties. The Macon office was consolidated with that of Atlanta on January 1, 1932, and the entire state now is covered by the one office.

During his years as general agent Mr. Daniel's agency has steadily increased its production and efficiency. It has regularly been among the leading groups of agencies with substantial volume to its credit and today it has about $33,000,000 of business on its books.

Among the many policies evolved during the 35 years of his service Mr. Daniel looks with particular pride upon the newest—the "progressive budget" policy—which first was offered in October of last year.

This, he points out, is perhaps the most popular policy sold by Union Central at present, more than $3,000,000 worth having been sold in the year.

The "progressive budget" policy, he states, is a whole life policy with increasing premiums during the first five years. The first premium, he adds, is approximately one-half of the premium for the fifth and subsequent years, payable during the lifetime of the insured person.

This policy, he states, may be issued with double indemnity benefits, and the premiums are automatically paid in the event of total disability of the insured person.

Another among the younger policies of the company is the retirement annuity, which provides income for old age at reasonable cost to the holder.

Union Central, he adds, handles every class and type of life insurance and has a reputation in every corner of the nation for the efficient type of service rendered its policyholders, as well as for the stability of its financial position and the safety of its investments.

LODGE OF ANTLERS DINES NEW LEADERS

New officers who will head the lodge of Antlers during the next year were given an annual luncheon at the Elks' Club Friday night, with more than 80 members and their friends present. A tribute to Mother's Day was given by Mrs. J. Martin Jr., who read the official Antler's toast to "The Jewel of Motherhood."

Included in the new officers of attendance were: Ed J. Martin Jr., exalted Antler; R. E. Riser, leading Antler; Russell Shields, loyal Antler; Billy Young, lecturing Antler; Victor Cooper, recorder, and Paul Mobley, treasurer.

GEORGIA ODD FELLOWS WILL GATHER MAY 23

Georgia Odd Fellows and Rebekahs will hold their annual convention from May 23 to 25 at the Ansley hotel, according to an announcement by the Atlanta Convention and Tourist Bureau.

The grand encampment will be held on Tuesday, the 23d, and the grand lodge will open at 8 o'clock Wednesday morning and continue through Thursday. Meetings will be confined strictly to business and degrees will be conferred at the opening session. About 400 delegates are expected to attend.

Increase of 1,000,000 Bales in Cotton Usage Possible

Scores of Additional Ways Found in Which Staple May Be Employed to Enrichment of American Growers.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—(AP)—After an analysis of prices and service requirements, the bureau of agricultural economics reported today that there is room for an increase in cotton consumption by 1,000,000 bales.

It said the amount could be utilized by increasing use of cotton in bags and bagging for agricultural products, in curing concrete, for nets and other uses in power laundries and in numerous other ways.

It is estimated that the largest single item open to increased consumption of the chief product of the south would be in the use of cotton fabrics for baling raw cotton. A total of 225,000 bales, it said, could be used in that way.

It said that the use of 100,000 bales a year by the sugar industry could be doubled if cotton containers were used wholly for refined sugar. It said the potential use of cotton containers for packaging fertilizers, feeds, cement, potatoes, citrus fruits and other products is far from the saturation point.

If all fertilizers were packed in cotton, it estimated that 140,000 bales of cotton would be consumed in addition to about 4,000 bales now used for the purpose annually.

Use of cotton for packaging feed for livestock would be increased from 48,000 bales to 82,000 bales, and in packaging salt, from 48,000 bales to 118,000 bales, according to the bureau's figures.

The bureau said it has been "encouraged by surveys showing a steady increase in the consumption of cotton for packaging various commodities."

It attributed much of the increase to "consumer approval of retail packaging of bulky farm products in cotton containers, and to a growing demand by southern farmers that fertilizers, feed, flour, sugar and other commodities they buy be packaged in cotton containers to aid the cotton market."

It said that cotton containers have also been found to have a high resale value.

A marked improvement in the packing of Georgia fruits and vegetables for market during the past five years has been reported by G. C. Adams, commissioner of agriculture.

Discussing his visits to local market places, where farmers and truckers gather daily to sell their wares to retailers and housewives, Mr. Adams said he found more optimism among the growers than was evident at the beginning of the season.

He reported that the sale of such products as sweet potatoes and peas, which were formerly "dumping grounds" for surplus crops from other states, will continue to be the case until we get protective legislation for our farmers.

Mr. Adams frequently has advocated a law for inspection of sweet potatoes coming into Georgia from other states, so that the state and its such shipments in so far as their quality is concerned. He has urged a similar regulation over out-of-state apple shipments.

dead leaves, or foreign substances, and fruit is packed more attractively."

He said Georgia snapbeans have recently come on the market and are selling readily at "a small advance in price. Oranges and grapefruit are cheaper than ever before."

A large quantity of sweet potatoes are on the market at 45 and 50 cents per bushel. Most of these come from Tennessee and Alabama. "This is an injustice to our growers," he said, "because Georgia is called the 'dumping ground' for all surplus crops from other states. This will continue to be the case until we get protective legislation for our farmers."

COTTON MARKETS CONTINUE TO RISE; TRADING IS ACTIVE

More Speculative Interest Develops During Week; Price Advances About $2 a Bale.

NEW ORLEANS, May 14.—(AP)—Trading in the cotton contract market was very active during the past week. There was not only a broad volume of trade buying and price fixing, but also more speculative interest developed in the market on the part of the public. After recent sharp advances there was considerable profit taking and also not a little short selling by professionals, but the fresh demand has been more than sufficient to absorb all the offerings.

Prices developed a good advance and both Wednesday and Thursday showed net advances of an average of 30 points on each day. Prices made new high levels for the present upward movement, as well as for the calendar year and October, the most active position at the present time, reached 91.8. At the highest level of the week cotton was worth fully $15 a bale above the price level of March 1. While the price level eased off nearly a dollar a bale at the close of the period, owing mainly to profit taking, the net gain for the week was approximately 40 points, or $2 a bale.

The advance was due to final enactment of the farm relief measure by congress with its inflationary effects, the unfavorable character of the advice with respect to progress of the new crop which is now considered to be making a very late start.

The spot demand continued active with daily sales at reporting markets running as high as 15,000 bales, and dates last year. This demand came from domestic mills mainly. The export demand for the time being appeared to be moderate.

Exports for the week were fair and compared favorably with the corresponding week last year.

High, low and closing sales in the futures market during the past week compared with a year ago, follow:

	High.	Low.	Close.	Year.
May	87.5	84.4	86.0	5.52
July	89.2	81.8	87.6	5.80

Benny Smith Offers Cure For Termite Destruction

Annual Toll of $40,000,000 Timber Damage to Homes and Other Buildings Done by Tiny Insect Vandals.

Atlanta home and building owners are daily becoming more and more cognizant of the ruthlessly destructive nature of the termites, which exact an average toll of $40,000,000 each year, according to Benny Smith, of the Benny M. Smith Exterminating Company, 309 Houston street, N. E.

The Smith company, operating strictly along the line of recommendations set forth by the United States bureau of entomology of the department of agriculture, offers the remedy for Atlanta's share in this huge yearly toll, with a guarantee of thorough and efficient work on exterminating jobs, large or small.

Home and building owners are invited to call upon the Benny M. Smith Exterminating Company at any time for estimates on the job under consideration. Experts will be sent to the ground for thorough inspection of the property, and will be glad to explain in detail the procedure necessary for removal of the destructive creature.

"When you find small, blackish, white-winged 'ants' flying in large numbers in your house in the spring and fall," says Mr. Smith, "do not sweep them out, thinking they are merely outdoor ants, and then forget about them. They may be termites, or 'white ants,' and perhaps are destroying the woodwork of your home. Then is the time to act."

Contrary to a many times popularly accepted belief, says Mr. Smith, termites do not live only in tropical countries. They are found in all sections of the United States. Their damage to woodwork is especially bad in southeastern, central, western, southwestern and Pacific coast states.

Termites are not true ants, although they look much like them and live in large colonies made up of different forms. The winged termites which are seen "swarming" for a short time in spring and fall are on their way to start new colonies. These parent termites are not injurious, but their descendants, the wingless workers of the colony, are very destructive. These are rarely seen, for they do not crawl about in the open but stay underground or in wood. Even when they wish to reach woodwork above ground they keep under cover, building earthen tubes to crawl through before the insect vandals are noticed, since they leave a protective outer shell.

Termites which do the greatest damage to buildings and their contents, especially by weakening the supporting timbers, are those which live in the ground and attack wood directly from the ground.

It is such destructive insects as these which Mr. Smith, through years of study and experience, has equipped himself to exterminate. One of the oldest termite exterminators in the southeast, he has thoroughly familiarized himself with the life, habits and methods pursued by them, and with a trained eye goes directly to the root of the trouble with a view to eradicating and further preventing timber damage.

Huge New Bank Seen Through Capital Union

WASHINGTON, May 13.—(AP)—Designed to solve the complex financial situation presented by Washington banks in the hands of conservators, plans were formally announced tonight for organization of a new national bank here, with a capital structure of at least a million dollars, to be headed by Edwin C. Graham, president of the National Electric Light Company.

Four banks form the nucleus of the new institution—the Federal American National Bank & Trust Co., the District National Bank, the Potomac Savings bank, and the Washington Savings bank.

Under the plan, 50 per cent of all deposits in these institutions would be made available to depositors in the new bank, totalling about $10,000,000.

STEEL PRODUCTION CONTINUE INCLINE

Manufacturers Convinced of Permanent Nature of Improved Trend.

CLEVELAND, May 14.—(AP)—With steel works operating at 36 per cent of capacity, the highest since June, 1931, the magazine Steel said today that iron and steel interests are convinced the present improvement is deeper rooted than a belated spring rise.

New bookings for finished steel last week were sufficiently heavy to push the operating rate up three points, build moderate backlogs in some products and defer deliveries, the magazine said in its weekly summary.

Persistent buying by steel makers in their efforts to accumulate stocks of basic materials indicates the foundation is being laid for a long upswing in operations, which seasonal conditions this summer will not vitiate, the magazine added.

Operations in the Wheeling district last week led the country with a rate of 65 per cent, up four points. Cleveland was second at 54 per cent, up six points; the Youngstown district advanced 10 points to 43; Chicago 1-2 to 31; Pittsburgh 2 to 24; Birmingham 6 to 20; Philadelphia 1 to 6-1-2; and Detroit and Toledo at 28 per cent.

Some tin plate mills were operating at 100 per cent, the average for all being 60.

The rise in scrap prices has slowed up the demand for this class of material, the magazine said, because scrap prices have practically caught up with pig iron.

Following its recent purchase of $200,000 tons of Southern railway scrap, Weirton Steel Company has acquired 200,000 tons from the Baltimore & Ohio, the review continued.

Heavier buying of pig iron has been induced by prospects for higher prices. Chicago furnaces have advanced 50 cents a ton; Pittsburgh and Cleveland producers probably will move up this week.

"Steel's iron and steel price composite this week is up 4 cents to $28.33; the finished steel composite is unchanged at $43.10; while the scrap composite has advanced 16 cents to $9.16."

As the week closed, the demand was strong and prices very firm. Certain constructions of grey goods are already difficult to obtain for delivery within four to six weeks. In general, mills are willing to sell through July at advancing prices, and in exceptional cases, sales for August delivery have been made.—Southeastern Cottons, Inc.

COTTON GOODS SALES REFLECT CONFIDENCE

NEW YORK, May 14.—The past week's change in the attitude of mind of both people and business is a remarkable demonstration of the great part the national psychology plays in guiding the course of human conduct and events.

The president's inspiring Sunday night broadcast, voicing his realization of the need for adequate economic planning of the country's affairs provides one of the soundest cornerstones upon which to base business confidence and the certainty of a genuine economic recovery.

With Southeastern, our sales activity has definitely reflected the change in the public psychology. Buying is beginning to realize the urgent necessity for stocking up the empty shelves. Sales of narrow sheetings for the week have totaled a substantial yardage of which the bag industry and jobbers have taken the larger proportion. Narrow drills have been in fair demand and narrow twills have moved in limited quantities. It is encouraging to note that, for the first time in a long while, merchandise is being absorbed by the various industries at continually advancing prices—all of which confirms the opinion which we recently expressed, that many factors indicated higher prices.

As the week closed, the demand was strong and prices very firm. Certain constructions of grey goods are already difficult to obtain for delivery within four to six weeks. In general, mills are willing to sell through July at advancing prices, and in exceptional cases, sales for August delivery have been made.—Southeastern Cottons, Inc.

PROTECTION

For Your Family, Your Wife and You
THE new Family Income Policy gives you the security of triple protection. In this one policy, you provide

1 A guaranteed monthly income that will take care of your family at the time of their greatest need.
2 In addition to this income, your wife receives the face amount of the policy at the end of the income period.
3 If you outlive these maximum needs, the policy may be made to mature into an endowment which will provide you an income for life when you want to retire.

This triple protection is secured in one policy at a cost less than by any other method. It is one of the greatest innovations in life insurance in thirty years.

The apes swung away through the trees, paying no attention to the people on the ground. Only the one remaining with Tarzan—for it was he—looked quizzically from the ape-man to the strange beings below. The ape chattered, volubly, as if asking some explanation.

London 'Reds' Say 1

Departure of Nazis

LONDON, May 14.—(P.—D.) Dr. Adolf Rosenberg, Chancellor Hitler's official representative in London, was called back suddenly to report on his chief at what happened to him. He had a noisy send-off to him at Liverpool street station when he departed.

Upon his arrival at the station with representatives of the German Embassy Dr. Rosenberg found the station with communists who suddenly unfurled red flags and waved three leaflets and shouted derogatory remarks.

The uproar continued until the participants were rounded up with difficulty by the police and forced back through the exits.

River at Cincinnati

Again Out of Bank

CINCINNATI, May 14.—(P.—D.)

The second time in two months that the river swept out of its banks to flood thousands of acres of lowlands and threatened to drive hundreds of families from their homes.

Once the government weather bureau in Washington issued flood warnings for the river from Paducah, Ky., to the Mississippi, the waters that night rose to the 52-foot flood stage in Cincinnati and was expected to reach about 55 by morning.
